Reading (10 pts)

Oprah Winfrey is an American actress and media personality. She is one of the richest people in the United States.

(a) _____ She was born in 1954 in Kosciusko, Mississippi, and raised by her grandmother until she was six. She learned to read by age three and started speaking in church at an early age. She moved in with her mother when she was six and moved frequently between her mother in Wisconsin and her father in Tennessee until she graduated from high school. Despite this instability, she was a bright student and did well in school, winning a full scholarship to university, where she studied communication.

(b) _____ It was there that she knew for certain that she wanted to work in the media. At nineteen, she was invited to be a news anchor for a local Nashville TV station. From there, she moved to Baltimore where she was a news anchor and then a talk show host. After a few years, she was invited to host a morning talk show in Chicago.

(c) _____ After only a few months with Oprah heading it up, the show shot to first place. After a few years the show was renamed The Oprah Winfrey Show, was broadcast all over the country, and the rest is history. The Oprah Winfrey Show was on the air for twenty-five years. In the first year the show earned $125 million dollars and Oprah made $30 million dollars.

(d) _____ She also had the opportunity to act, something she had always wanted to do. Her first acting job was on the very successful film The Color Purple. She has gone on to produce and act in many other successful films.

(e) _____ She started a school for girls in South Africa called the Oprah Winfrey Leadership Academy. She has given hundreds of scholarships and donated to the arts, culture and humanitarian causes. Even after so many years of success, Oprah continues to work, create and contribute to society.
