Going Vegan

Going vegan has been a gradual process for me. By this time next month, I'll ¹ (be) vegan for a whole year.

I became vegetarian first: I'll ² (celebrate) three years without meat or fish next week. It was hard to give up my favourites, but now I barely think about what I no longer eat – only what I'll ³ (have) for my next meal! I've become very inventive – you have to be when you're vegan – and I might ⁴ (set up) my own vegan meal business soon.

Personally, I did it because I developed a mild allergy to milk and dairy products, so I had to cut down on them. I'll ⁵ (go) to the doctor's soon and we'll see whether things have improved – I think my allergy will ⁶ (improve) because my symptoms are much better.

There are lots of benefits to going vegan, for both personal benefit and the planet's. If I can convince my parents to go vegan, I'll ⁷ (do) a pretty good job of getting my message across. However, it's important to remember that you may not always get everything you need from a vegan diet – I'll ⁸ (write) a blog soon about the vitamin supplements that can be helpful for staying on top form. Watch this space!
