

You have the right to play and enjoy your childhood.

You have the right to basic needs: food, clothing, shelter and healthcare.

You have the right to be born well--to be nurtured and cared for from conception to birth.

You have the right to be cared for if you cannot live with your parents or guardians.

You have the right to live in a environment where you can be inspired to grow and learn more.

You have the right to a quality education.

You have the right to be raised well and become a contributing member of your own community.

You have the right to a life of peace and freedom.

You have the right to be safe and protected from harm.

You have the right to what is necessary to have a good life.

You have the right to a caring family that loves you.

You have the right to a government that upholds and protects your rights.

