

Subjunctive Mood

Use the correct form of the verb.

1. If you (speak) more slowly, everybody might have under-stood you.
2. If I (pass) my exam yesterday, I (join) your company tonight.
3. If he had tried, I think he (succeed) in passing his driving test last month.
4. I (take) a taxi if I had realised it was such a long way.
5. You (not, have) so much trouble with your car if you had it served regularly.
6. If someone (offer) you to buy one of these paintings, which one you (choose)?
7. You (not, get) pneumonia now if you (change) your wet clothes yesterday.
8. It's desirable that you (learn) to forgive the shortcoming of other people just as you expect them to overlook yours.
9. It is required that people (observe) certain norms of behaviour in any society.
10. I wish my friends (be) frank with me, and I (be) always frank with them.
11. I wish you (understand) that happiness is not just a sum of pleasures.
12. It is time people (realise) that it is no longer possible to settle international disputes by means of war.
13. A radical reconstruction of the economy requires that enterprises (be) self-financing.

14. The diplomats suggested that negotiations on this problem (start) at once.

15. We'll catch the 6 o'clock train so that we (arrive) on time.

16. He looked at them as though he never (see) them before.

17. But for the darkness we (not, lose) our way in the forest yesterday.

18. Shall I tell them the news? - I'd rather they (not, know) about it.

19. I don't know these people that's why I am not going to the party. If I (know) them, I (go).

20. My friend didn't work hard. He failed his exam. If he (work) hard, he (not, fail) it.