

Nickname: _____

No.: _____

Class: _____

Activity 1: Complete the crossword puzzle.

Down

- 2. When someone or something is full of energy, excitement or enthusiasm.
- 5. To become comfortable in a new place or situation.
- 6. To relax after a period of excitement or work.

Across

- 1. When an activity or situation is very intense or difficult to manage because it's too much.
- 3. To change your behaviour or ideas to fit a new situation.
- 4. When someone is ready, excited or prepared to do something.

 Activity 2: Fill in the blanks with words below.

lively

willing overwhelming

adapt settle in wind down

1. When I first moved to a big city, the constant noise felt _____.
2. Even though it's hard to change, I'm trying to _____ to the new school schedule.
3. The town festival was so _____; there was music, dancing and fireworks all night.
4. After a busy day, I like to _____ by reading a book or listening to music.
5. It took us a few weeks to really _____ after moving to our new house, but now it feels like home.
6. I'm always _____ to learn about different cultures and try new foods.

 Activity 3: Circle the correct form of the verb in these sentences about adapting to new situations.

1. She's getting used to / being used to studying for three hours a day.
2. He was used to / was getting used to the quiet countryside before he moved to the city.
3. Will you be used to / get used to the new schedule by next month?
4. We weren't used to / weren't getting used to speaking English at work, but now it's normal.
5. Are you getting used to / being used to going to the gym every morning?

Activity 4: Spot the mistake and write the correct sentence below.

1. I am used to eat dinner very late every night.

2. She is get used to her new schedule at the university.

3. We weren't used to drive on the left side of the road.

4. He's slowly used to living on his own after moving out.

5. Are you used to wake up so early in the morning?

6. They get used to living in a small town, but they plan to move soon.
