Magpies

Magpies are part of the UK's weird and wonderful superstitions. These birds with black and white feathers and a long tail are known for being noisy and having a taste for small shiny things which they carry away to their nests. But there's more to it – as this well-known 18th century rhyme explains:

The rhyme refers to the number of magpies you see. Even if you're not the superstitious type, once you've heard the rhyme, you might find yourself searching desperately for the second bird every time you see a flash of black and white.

Some people say that you can reduce the 'bad luck' from seeing one magpie by saying a special rhyme, touching wood or blowing the magpie a kiss.

*One for sorrow
Two for joy
Three for a girl
Four for a boy
Five for silver
Six for gold
Seven for a secret, never to be told*
