The missed birthday party

Last Saturday, Emily was invited to her best friend's birthday party. She really wanted to go, but she had an important English exam the following Monday. She promised herself that she would study hard all weekend. When her friend called her on Saturday morning, Emily felt nervous. She didn't want to disappoint her, but she also didn't want to fail the exam.

So, she made up an excuse. She told her friend that she wasn't feeling very well and needed to rest. Her friend sounded worried and said she hoped Emily would get better soon. Emily felt a little guilty, but she stayed home and studied all day.

On Monday, Emily passed her exam with a very good grade. However, when she saw photos of the party on social media, she felt sad. Everyone looked so happy, and she regretted not being honest. She realized that sometimes excuses may help in the short term, but they can also make you feel bad later.

A. Choose the correct option

1. Why didn't Emily go to the party?
   a) She was sick.
   b) She had to study.
   c) She had no transportation.

2. How did Emily's friend feel when she heard the excuse?
   a) Angry
   b) Worried
   c) Happy

3. How did Emily feel after seeing the photos?
   a) Excited
   b) Sad
   c) Confident

B. Read the text and complete the sentences

1. Emily told her friend she wasn't _____.
2. On Monday, Emily passed her _____.
3. After seeing the photos, she felt _____.

C. Write True or False

1. Emily went to the party. (_____)
2. She studied all day Saturday. (_____)
3. She didn't regret her decision. (_____)

An unexpected meeting in the park

One sunny afternoon, Daniel decided to take a walk in the park. He was thinking about the many tasks he had to finish at work. Suddenly, while looking at his phone, he bumped into someone. Papers fell everywhere, and Daniel quickly apologized.

The woman he had bumped into was Julia, his old school friend. They hadn't seen each other for years. Julia laughed and said she was also distracted because she had been thinking about a big presentation at her company. They both agreed it was funny that they were so busy with work that they almost didn't notice each other.

As they sat on a bench, Julia told Daniel she was nervous about her presentation. Daniel encouraged her and said, "You're always well-prepared. You'll do great." Julia smiled and thanked him. Before leaving, Daniel invited her for coffee the next week. Julia agreed happily, saying it would be nice to talk again and not just bump into each other by accident.

A. Choose the correct option

1. Why did Daniel bump into Julia?
   a) He was running.
   b) He was distracted by his phone.
   c) He was looking for her.

2. What was Julia worried about?
   a) A trip.
   b) A birthday party.
   c) A work presentation.

3. How did Julia react to Daniel's invitation?
   a) She refused.
   b) She agreed happily.
   c) She ignored him.

B. Read again and complete the sentences.

1. Daniel was thinking about _____.
2. Julia was nervous because of _____.
3. Daniel invited Julia to _____.

C. Read and write True or False

WRITING ACTIVITIES

1. Write a short paragraph (120 - 150 words) about a time when you made an excuse. Explain:

- What was the situation?
- What excuse did you give?
- Did you feel good or bad about it afterward?

Example:

One time, I didn't do my homework and I told my teacher that I forgot my notebook on the bus. At first, I felt safe, but later I regretted it because….

_____

_____

_____

2. Imagine you are a reporter. Write a short story (120–150 words) reporting what five people told you yesterday. Use reported speech. Example:

Yesterday I spoke to several people and they all gave me interesting information. First, my brother said he had finished his university project and felt very proud. Later, my mom told me not to forget to buy bread on my way home. In the afternoon, my teacher reminded us that the exam would be next Friday, so we needed to study hard. After that, my best friend asked me to help him prepare for a job interview. Finally, my neighbor said her dog had run away the night before, and she was very worried. It was a busy day full of messages, but I was happy because I could report everything I had heard using reported speech.
