STATE and ACTION VERBS

State verbs are verbs which do not normally have continuous tenses because they describe a state rather than action. These include:

- verbs which express likes and dislikes: like, love, hate, dislike, prefer, etc.
- verbs of perception: believe, know, remember, forget, recognise, understand, seem, etc.
- some other verbs: need, belong, cost, mean, want

Some state verbs have continuous tenses, but there is a difference in meaning.
