

Q1: Choose The Best Answer

1. "Woe that day to the deniers"

- a) A happy day for those who tell the lie.
- b) A warning of punishment for those who deny the truth.
- c) A special rewards for believers
- d) A story about people who are kind.

2. Allah swears by the:

- a) Mountains and seas
- b) Winds/angels sent forth in succession
- c) Sun and Moon
- d) People and Nations

3. What does "Al-Mursalat" mean?

- a) The sun and moon
- b) The ones sent forth
- c) The stars in the sky
- d) The people of the past

4. What is being "sent forth" in the beginning of the Surah?

- a) Birds
- b) Waves
- c) Winds or angels
- d) Fire

5. What does the Surah warn about again and again?

- a) The beauty of nature
- b) The Day of Judgment
- c) The rules of grammar
- d) The stories of kings

6. What phrase is repeated many times in Surah Al-Mursalat?

- a) Allah is Most Forgiving
- b) So woe that Day to the deniers
- c) This is a story of the past
- d) Indeed, prayer is important

7. What is the message of this Surah?

- a) Encouraging farming
- b) Warning those who reject the truth
- c) Teaching how to swim
- d) Praising famous leaders

Q2: Fill In The Blanks

1. Allah swears by the ones who are _____ forth.
2. The Surah talks about the coming of the _____ of Judgment.
3. "So woe that Day to those who _____ the truth."
4. The Surah warns about the _____ for those who reject Allah's message.
5. Allah mentions His _____ in the universe as proofs.
6. Some scholars say the ones sent forth are _____.
7. Allah sends _____ from the sky to give water.
8. In the past, Allah would _____ nations who refused to believe.
9. The Surah reminds us that Allah speaks only the _____.
10. The stars will be _____ out and the sky will be _____.