

NAME: _____

Listen to Logan talking about hackschooling and fill in the gaps.

Hackschooling makes me happy!

In Logan's perception, adults expect their children to tell them that they want to become an astronaut, a neurosurgeon when they grow up. However, he thinks that children simply want to be 1. _____

Logan labels himself as a teenager with common worries such as his messy room, his personal hygiene, and the fact that girls get to like him. He explains that neurologists think of the teenagers' brains as peculiar, for their prefront cortex is not fully developed, yet they own more neurons than adults, resulting into 2. _____, impulsive, and moody young people.

Logan thinks that adults assume that kids will be automatically happy and safe once they go to school, go to college, get a job, and marry. Therefore, Logan considers that the 8 points to be happy, developed by 3. _____ Roger Welsh are transcendental to make a life, and not just to make a living.

Logan experimented being pulled out of 4. _____ at the age of 9 after his parents watched Sir Ken Robinson's "Schools kill creativity" very famous talk watched by more than 200 million people.

Logan stated that he admires hackers, as they are 5. _____, people who modify systems to make them work in superior ways. He thinks that he has hacked his education getting better and faster results. He describes his school's appearance similar to a 6. _____, where he studies subjects such as Math, History, Science, and Writing. Logan says that he feels excited about writing because he can write about his experiences and interests. He hacked physics by learning from his 6. _____, and learned from the Ski Squaw Valley patrol the importance of avoiding 7. _____ to prevent putting themselves and their friends at risk. He has learned from history by interpreting characters such as Capone and 8. _____. He also considers nature very important, and has been part of a program where he must be able to survive in the wilderness with just a 9. _____. Logan works at a customizing hats factory, and he would like to own his own business in the future.

Finally, Logan compares 10. _____ to life and education.