Amelia Green is eleven years old and she is in Year 6 at a primary school in London. She lives in Greenwich with her parents and her younger brother, Noah. She is from Great Britain.

On school days she usually wakes up at 7:00, puts on her uniform, and catches the bus to school. Twice a week she goes for a short run in Greenwich Park before breakfast. At school, her favourite subjects are English and Art because she loves writing stories and designing posters.

Amelia writes for the school eco-club blog; once a month the group weighs the rubbish they collect and makes a chart. On Thursdays she trains with the netball team, and at the weekend she often visits the market by the river with her mum.

Last spring she went on a class trip to the Natural History Museum and took notes about dinosaurs. She speaks English at home and can understand some French from TV shows.

Her favourite food is a Sunday roast, and she is saving money to buy a simple digital camera. In the future she wants to study photography or marine biology.
