

Jonathan

1. In the past, Jonathan's job was to introduce and sell products to people.
2. In his previous job, Jonathan could get a higher position in his company.
3. Jonathan changed his job because he would like to work for himself.
4. Jonathan started his own business 3 years ago.
5. His job is not as hard as what he expected.
6. In his current job, Jonathan had to find the right people to hire for his company.
7. Jonathan's current job makes him feel safe and that he can continue for a long period of time.
8. Jonathan likes his job even though it makes him feel good.

Donna

1. Donna's previous job was a person who sold medicines to people.
2. Donna had to learn a lot about medicines to be able to be a pharmacist.
3. Donna had to work a lot and long hours as a pharmacist.
4. Donna was paid a lot of money a day when working as a pharmacist.
5. Donna had a good relationship with people who worked with her.
6. Donna is confident that she could do different job in the medical businesses.
7. Now Donna wants to be a boss because she can learn many things.

Daniel

1. When Daniel was a high school student, he would like to be a person who does experiments to learn new things.
2. Daniel did very good at school.
3. A part of the job of being a research is teaching.
4. Daniel thought of being a doctor who cut into people's bodies to repair them.
5. Being a surgeon means that Daniel does not have to change his job.
6. Being a surgeon is not difficult so Daniel does not have to try really hard.
7. Daniel works really hard but he does not get any good results.