The van Buren family

Mr and Mrs van Buren travel a lot for their work and their children, Jackie and Miles, travel with them. The children have lessons every day, but not in a classroom. They learn at home, and 'home' is a different country every month.

This month the van Buren family are in Austria. Today, Jackie and Miles are visiting the Kunzhistorisches Museum in Vienna. Jackie is interested in history, so she is looking at some old things and writing an essay about Egyptian history. Miles is interested in art and he is studying some famous paintings.

The easiest subject for the children is Geography. They learn about it from real life: they visit a lot of countries and they see real rivers, lakes, islands, mountains and other geographical features. Mrs van Buren teaches them Maths and her husband teaches them Science. The children also use the Internet a lot. They send their homework to their parents' laptops and their parents talk about it with them.

They also chat with their friends in the UK.
