

The Milk Surprise

Aisha usually drank a box of orange juice at lunch. She liked the sweet taste and the bright colour. But one afternoon, her father surprised her by putting a small carton of milk in her lunchbox instead. At first, Aisha frowned. She thought, "Milk is plain and not as fun as juice."

When lunchtime came, Aisha opened the milk and took a sip. It was cool and creamy. After finishing it, she felt fresh and full of energy. Later that day, during sports practice, Aisha noticed that she could run faster and play longer without feeling tired.

That evening, her father explained that milk has calcium, which makes bones strong and healthy. Aisha realised that even though milk was not as sweet as juice, it gave her strength and helped her do better in her activities. From that day on, she decided to drink milk more often because it was good for her body.
