The Jungle Survival Guide (Malaysia)

Malaysia has many beautiful jungles such as Taman Negara, Endau-Rompin, and Belum Rainforest. They are full of trees, rivers, birds, and wild animals. Many people love visiting the jungle to hike, camp, or learn about nature. However, the jungle can be dangerous if you are not prepared, so it is important to know how to stay safe.

Do carry enough clean water and light snacks like biscuits or energy bars. The jungle is hot and very humid, so you can get tired quickly. Wear long sleeves, long pants, and strong shoes to protect yourself from insect bites, sharp branches, and leeches. Also, wear a hat and use insect repellent to stop mosquitoes from biting you.

Don't go into the jungle alone. Always go with a group or a tour guide who knows the area well. Let someone know where you are going and when you plan to return. It is easy to get lost in the jungle. Bring a map, compass, or GPS device. Also, pack a small first aid kit in case you get cuts, rashes, or insect bites.

If you see wild animals like monkeys and snakes, do not go near them. Take photos from far away. Respect the jungle and leave nothing behind. Enjoy the beauty, but always stay safe

PRACTICE 3

Around the World by Bicycle

Many people dream of travelling around the world, but some do it in a special way—by bicycle! Riding a bicycle around the world takes a lot of energy and planning. It is not easy, but it can be a very exciting adventure.

When people travel by bicycle, they can visit small towns, meet local people, and enjoy the beautiful views of nature. They usually carry a tent, clothes, and food on their bikes. Some sleep in camping areas or stay with friendly families. Others use small hotels along the way.

Biking around the world is also good for the environment. It doesn't use petrol, and it keeps the air clean. It also helps you stay fit and healthy because you need to pedal for many hours each day.

Some cyclists take one year or more to finish their journey. They visit many countries, try different foods, and learn about new cultures. They also write blogs or post videos to share their trip with the world.

Travelling by bicycle is not for everyone, but for those who love adventure, it is a great way to see the world slowly and enjoy every moment
