(ROMEO ENTERS JUST TO THE RIGHT OF THE WALL. HE WAITS THEN

JULIET ENTERS ON THE BALCONY)

ROMEO Oh! It is my angel. Oh, it is my love.

JULIET (NOT SEEING ROMEO YET) Ah, me!

ROMEO (SOFTLY) Oh, speak again, my angel.

JULIET (STILL NOT SEEING HIM) Oh Romeo, Romeo! Where are you my sweet

Romeo?

ROMEO (SPEAKING LOUDER AND COMING NEARER) Juliet,
my love. I will be yours.

JULIET Romeo, it's dangerous for you here. Tybalt, my cousin, may kill you!

ROMEO I prefer to die here, than to be without you.

JULIET Do you love me?

ROMEO I love you more than words can say.

NURSE (SHOUTS FROM A DISTANCE) Juliet! Juliet!

JULIET A noise. Go, dear love.

(HE BEGINS TO MOVE AWAY) No, stay!

(HE COMES BACK AND STARTS TO CLIMB THE BALCONY)

JULIET What can I do to make you happy?

ROMEO Give me your heart. And I will give you mine.

JULIET I gave it before you asked. My love is as deep as the sea.

NURSE (SHOUTS FROM A DISTANCE) My lady!

JULIET If your love is real, do you want to marry me?

ROMEO I do want to marry you.

JULIET When?

ROMEO Tomorrow.

JULIET It will seem like twenty years. Go now.

(SHE BLOWS HIM A KISS. HE TOUCHES IT TO HIS HEART)

JULIET Good night. Parting is such sweet sorrow. I will see you tomorrow.

ROMEO I will not sleep till then.

(JULIET LEAVES AND ROMEO CLIMBS OVER THE WALL.)
