Fill in the gaps with the correct forms of the verbs in parentheses.

A: Hey, did you have fun playing "Never Have I Ever" the other night?
B: Yeah, it was great! I _____ (never / play) that game before, so it was fun to try something new.
A: I _____ (play) it a few times. _____ you _____(bend) any fingers?
B: I _____ (bend) two fingers actually. I _____(never / go) bungee jumping before, so I had to bend one finger for that, and I _____ (never / be) to New York City either, so I had to bend another finger for that.
A: Oh, I see. I _____ (go) bungee jumping last year. It was pretty scary but also really exciting. And I _____ (be) to New York City. What else came up in the game?
B: Well,I _____ (never / eat) sushi before, so I had to bend another finger for that. But it made me want to try some, so maybe I'll have to do that soon.
A: Wow! I _____(try) sushi many times. I really love sushi and pizza! What about the others? _____ they _____(bend) any fingers?
B: Yeah, Jen _____(never / try) camping before. Tom _____(never / be) on a plane either, so he had to bend a finger for that.
A: I _____(go) camping a lot when I was younger. And I _____(be) on a plane many times, but I still get a little nervous during takeoff and landing. It's always interesting to see what comes up in that game.
B: Definitely! I / think we should play it again sometime.
