1. Listen to the audio and fill in the blanks

Interviewer: Your name?

Katie: Katie.

Interviewer: Your occupation?

Katie: Therapist,

Interviewer: And your specialist subject?

Katie: the social media _____ and digital footprint of my ex's new girlfriend.

Interviewer: Let's go. Where did your ex's new girlfriend go on _____ in June 2011?

Katie: Malaga with her family.

Interviewer: Correct. What _____ is Gene McDonald, your ex's new girlfriend?

Katie: Her auntie. No, her cousin.

Interviewer: I'll have to accept your first answer. Incorrect. In 2021, your ex's new girlfriend posted a selfie with a _____ of prosecco and the caption, "Today was a good day." # big things coming. What was the meaning _____ this post?

Katie: She just got a new job at a _____ company, which was significant because she hated her old job and she felt _____.

Interviewer: Correct. According to the electoral _____, where was your ex's new girlfriend living in 2023?

Katie: I can't answer that for _____ reasons.

Interviewer: How many stars did your ex's new girlfriend give in her review of a three _____ chili on BBC Good Food in March 2014?

Katie: Three stars. She said it was too spicy, which is funny because my ex couldn't handle chili either. It would always give him the shits.

Interviewer: Correct. How many (...) I've started, so I'll finish. How many accounts does your ex's new girlfriend follow on Instagram?

Katie: _____.

Interviewer: Wrong. It's 683.

Katie: No, it's 682. She unfollowed Usma Alley about an hour ago. I think it's because Usma did a post to the grid calling out pug owners and she owns a _____, but she is also in the luteal phase of her menstrual cycle, so that could explain it.

Interviewer: Um, correct.

LIVEWORKSHEETS