Sir David Attenborough (A1) ... a lifetime filming animals. He recalls 'I was flying to East Africa in the old days to meet Joy Adamson and Elsa, the famous lioness from the film Born Free. When I (A2) ... up with Joy Adamson, she was terribly upset. 'Oh David, it's the end of the world. Elsa (A3) ... . She (A4) ... by a strange lioness and she (A5) ... away.' I was exhausted after my long journey and decided I wasn't going to worry about the lioness, and certainly I wasn't going to look for her late at night. All I wanted was some sleep and I finally got out a camp-bed and fell asleep in my tent. When I (A6) ... up, there was a terrible weight on my chest. It was Elsa — and she (A7) ... on me. I thought I was about to be her breakfast. I didn't know what to do. And then Joy came around the corner and Elsa got up and went off. It was quite an awakening, I can tell you!'
