Exercise 10: Đoạn văn sau có 5 lỗi sai. Hãy tìm và sửa chúng.

I'm going to tell you about someone who has influence my life in an important way. This person is actually my father. I am 20 years old so of course I have known him for 20 years as he's my father. We still live together, along with my mother, my older brother and younger sister.

One of his best qualities is that he's get a lot of drive and is ambitious, which means that he's achieved a lot in his life. He started out working for a building company but he took it on himself to get professionally qualified. In the evening he started take classes to qualify as a surveyor. This took him many years but eventually he got there and started working for the same company as one of their surveyors. But he did really well as he eventually became a senior partner in the business, and then just a few years ago he sets up his own business with one of the other partners. So now he has his own company and they employ about fifteen other people. So I'm really proud of what he did with this. But he's also very humble, another great quality. Even though he's achieved so much he doesn't brag or boasts about anything. He's also quite laid back and doesn't stress too much about life.
