Match the headings from the box to the correct paragraph. Then complete the exercises on the following page.

Floss everyday.	Brush before bed.	Brush properly.	Brush your tongue.
Use mouthwash.	Drink more water.	Limit sugary foods.	See a dentist.

1. _____. It's no secret that the general recommendation is to brush at least twice a day. Still, many people don't brush their teeth at night. However, brushing before bed removes plaque that builds up throughout the day.

2. _____. The way you brush is equally important — in fact, doing a poor job of brushing your teeth is almost as bad as not brushing at all. Take your time, moving the toothbrush in gentle, circular motions to remove plaque.

3. _____. Plaque can also build up on your tongue. Not only can this lead to a bad smelling mouth, but it can lead to other oral health problems. Gently brush your tongue every time you brush your teeth.

4. _____. Many who brush regularly forget to floss. Flossing isn't the most fun oral care habit, but it's essential for healthy teeth and gums. Flossing removes plaque and bacteria from between your teeth — an area that your toothbrush can't do alone.

5. _____. Mouthwash can help remove bacteria, freshen breath, and strengthen your teeth. It also helps wash away any excess food or plaque once you've finished brushing and flossing your teeth.

6. _____. Water continues to be great for your overall health — including oral health. Experts recommend drinking water after every meal. This can help wash out some of the negative effects of sugary foods and beverages in between brushes.

7. _____. Try to cut down on sugary snacks or drinks. Each time you eat sugar, the bacteria in your mouth react by producing acid. This acid will attack your teeth and cause dental decay.

8. _____. Your own everyday habits are crucial to your overall oral health. Still, everyone needs to see a dentist regularly. At minimum, you should see your dentist twice a year. A dentist will identify any potential issues and offer treatment solutions.

1 BENEFITS OF HEALTHY TEETH

Read the article then write detailed answers to the questions in the next exercise.

A healthy smile is not just for self-esteem or for cosmetic reasons. A bright and healthy smile means strong teeth to enjoy all sorts of foods and snacks without any problems. This article will focus on how having strong and clean teeth can improve and even save your life. Here are 5 benefits of having healthy teeth:

1. Your Breath - Unhealthy teeth can lead you to develop bad breath. You can fix that by brushing your teeth twice a day and flossing. However, these aren't the only things you can do. You should also frequently have an appointment with your dentists. Your dentist can help identify whether or not you are suffering from an oral disease or if there is a lot of plaque on your teeth.

2. Saves Money - Getting regular care and keeping your teeth strong can help you save a lot of money. Dental procedures are not just long painful processes, but they also cost a lot of money. All of this is preventable if you listen to what your dentist tells you, and take care of your oral health.

3. Avoid Heart Diseases - Strong teeth mean strong gums. Research has identified a strong link between unhealthy gums and some diseases – such as heart problems. Research also found that harmful bacteria can travel through the blood which increases risk of suffering a heart attack.

4. Fight Diabetes - Studies show there is a link between diabetes and gum disease. It is important to have clean and strong teeth so that your gums stay healthy. Gum disease may lead to fluctuating glucose levels – which is bad for people with diabetes. Keeping your teeth and gums strong can help manage diabetes.

5. Healthy babies - Research shows that there is a relationship between gum disease and childbirth. These studies suggest that gum disease increases the chance of having problems with newborn babies. Therefore, it is important for women to have healthy teeth and gums.

Having a healthy mouth and strong teeth can be the key to a healthy life. Along with impressing everyone with your toothy and confident smile – you will also improve your self-esteem to help you feel more positivity in your life. Poor oral health and bad teeth increases the chances of problems later in life. Brushing your teeth twice daily, along with flossing them can prevent many diseases.
