

READING – EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION WITH PATIENTS

(RAD TECHS)

Read the text and select the correct answer below:

- 1. According to the text, one of the main benefits of good communication in radiology is:
- 2. Which of the following is not one of the four communication abilities mentioned?
- 3. Why should humour be used carefully in medical environments?

4. Which of the following is an example of paralanguage?

5. Why is a professional appearance important for rad techs?

6. “Taking the heat” means:

7. When dealing with an angry patient, technologists should:

8. Why should perfumes be avoided by technologists?

9. The text recommends the following for visually impaired patients:

10. For patients with hearing impairments: technologists

should:

11. When communicating with mentally ill patients, technologist should:

12. Elderly patients may require:

13. Why should adhesives be avoided on elderly patients when possible?

14. The most important communication principle for pediatric patients is:

15. What must a parent accompanying a child in the imaging room do?

16. Why might adolescents require special privacy considerations?

17. Questions about pregnancy should be asked privately because:

18. A teenager who is an emancipated minor:

19. One universal communication principle across all patient groups is:

20. The text suggests that effective communication with patients helps technologists because: