1 Read and match the people to the clubs.

Archie used to be in a singing theatre group but now he is looking for something more creative. He wants to try different things, although he doesn't really like poetry unless it's improvised. He doesn't want to sing.

Ellie used to be in a choir but now she wants to experiment with different kinds of music. She loves rap and writes her own poetry. She would like to continue singing if possible.

George wants to explore different kinds of performance. He's happy to try anything and is keen to develop his writing skills. He doesn't like dancing. He wants help building his confidence in performing.

a. Speak out!

Whether you want to act, sing or dance we will help you develop your techniques by rehearsing with our experts. We also offer help with script writing and poetry.

b. IMPRO STYLE

Our story telling, acting, dancing and poetry recitals use improvisation techniques and we encourage our members to try new things. We never work with scripts so whether you say it or dance it, we don't care, just as long as you don't plan it!

c. Word up

If you love the written word and experimenting with how it's spoken, this is the club for you. We do everything from story telling to script writing but our main focus is always poetry, with or without music.
