

Rewrite the sentences, using the causative form:

1. Someone dry-cleans his suits every month.

2. The doctor examined his wound.

3. The gardener is cutting down the old spruce in our garden.

4. The builders will have to take the wall of our kitchen down.

5. Have your parents asked them to install a burglar alarm for them?

Transform the following active sentences into passive voice (personal or impersonal, as needed):

6. People say that the new movie is amazing.

7. Everyone believes she won the competition fairly.

8. They expect him to arrive tomorrow.

9. Teachers report that the students have improved.

10. Scientists claim that the climate is changing rapidly.

Transform these sentences with let and make into passive voice:

11. They can't make you work late.

12. She made him do the exercise again.

13. She lets the students sing in class.

14. His parents let him paint his room black.

Bonus (Optional, +2 marks):

Rewrite the sentence using both personal and impersonal passive constructions:

"People believe that the artist lives in Paris."
