In September 2014, Danell Lynn got on her motorbike in Phoenix, Arizona, and rode across the US. She visited 48 states and didn't stop riding for a year. She slept in a tent every night, ate outside, made lots of new friends and never lost her way. She travelled 78,000 kilometres. It was the longest motorbike journey in the US. Danell only started riding motorbikes in 2010, so why did she go across the US? She did it because she loves going to different places. When she was very young, she enjoyed visiting Europe with her mum and dad, and in 2009, she had a great time in Cuba. She's a world traveller!
