Three places to learn surfing

Nosara, Costa Rica

From the centre of the town of Nosara, you can easily walk to several good beaches for beginner surfers. The sea is warm all year round and the weather is beautiful, so you'll be surprised by how quiet the beaches always are. There are many excellent surf teachers around the town, and their prices aren't high. The town's also famous for its wildlife park, where you can see some amazing sea animals.

Agadir, Morocco

The area around Agadir in the south of Morocco is very popular with surfers. Beginners need to go in autumn when the sea is safe and the water is nice and warm. Experienced surfers will enjoy it more in winter when the waves are big and exciting. From the city you can drive to many lovely beaches in less than 20 minutes. The area's well known for having a large number of surf camps. These are comfortable and friendly and don't cost much. Book for at least three days, to make the most of your time.

Inch Marlow, Barbados

A surprising number of people haven't heard that the southern side of the island of Barbados is excellent for beginner surfers. However, Zed Layson, a famous surfer, has a school there at Surfer's Point, which is excellent for those who want to try the sport for the first time. As well as good teachers, there is always a photographer waiting to take a picture of you on your surfboard. In summer it rains a lot, but the water is warm so surfing is still possible.

Emma's camping trip in Namibia

Last summer Mum and I went camping in Namibia. It was my first time camping and my first visit to Namibia. My mum already knew the country. As a teenager she went travelling there with a cousin, and she always planned to go back one day. I knew Namibia was in Africa, but I had to check online to see exactly where.

The campsite was beautiful, with a big swimming pool. Campsites usually have showers, but when we got there, we found that this one had a real bath – I couldn't believe it. Also, we didn't need to make our own meals because there was a camp chef who cooked for us in an outdoor kitchen.

I was always tired in the evenings and I couldn't wait to get into my little camp bed. Every night I lay there listening to all the animals. They were really noisy, so it wasn't always easy to sleep. However, hearing them was one of the best things about the holiday.

We also saw a lot of animals. One day we found a lion family and stopped to watch them. Unfortunately, they were sleeping in long grass by a tree, and I couldn't get any good photos of them. They didn't look scary but our guide didn't let us get close.

It was a fantastic holiday and I loved camping. Now I know how much fun it is, I think I'll try it in my own country with some friends, maybe as soon as next summer.

- 14 Why did Emma's mum choose Namibia for their holiday?

 - C She slept well because she was tired.
- 17 How did Emma feel when she saw the lion family?
- A afraid because they looked dangerous
 - B upset because she didn't have her camera
 - C sorry because they were hard to see
- 18 What did Emma write in her diary about her holiday?
- A 'I enjoyed camping with Mum, but I'd like to go with friends next time.'
 - B 'I loved watching the wild animals, but camping is hard work.'
 - C 'I'd like to try camping again, but in a warmer place.'
