The Camping Trip

Liam and his friends are planning a camping trip for Saturday. The forecast says it might rain in the morning but will probably be sunny in the afternoon.

They prepare their backpacks with food, water, and tents. If it rains in the morning, they will wait until the rain stops before leaving. If the sun comes out early, they will start hiking right away.

On the way, Liam notices dark clouds. If it starts raining heavily, they will set up their tents under the trees. If the rain is light, they will continue walking to the river.

By noon, the sky clears. If the weather stays sunny, they will have a picnic by the river. They enjoy sandwiches, juice, and the fresh air. If they feel tired, they will rest under the trees.

At the end of the day, they pack their things. If the sky is still clear, they will watch the sunset before going home.
