Teen life

I'm writing this blog after reading some new information about the daily life of teenagers in the US from the Pew Research Center®. It says how teens spend their time nowadays is different to ten years ago – that's normal. But there are some other things I'm quite surprised about!

Do you know, girls STILL help out more at home? Crazy! Girls spend 38 minutes a day doing housework and other jobs round the house. For 29 minutes of that, they're making food and cleaning up afterwards. Boys do housework for an average of 24 minutes a day – 12 minutes of making food and cleaning up and the rest doing other jobs. So, girls and boys usually spend about the same time on other jobs in the home, for example, ironing, sweeping the floor, vacuuming or dusting.

That's not all Generally, teens spend 5 hours 44 mins doing free-time activities, and a lot of this time includes looking at screens. Boys spend almost 3 hours 31 minutes a day on screens, but girls generally spend 2 hours 33 minutes. In contrast, girls spend 1 hour 11 minutes doing homework, but boys only spend 50 minutes!

Boys do more exercise – they spend 59 minutes a day doing sports. For girls, it's 33 minutes. However, girls spend more time shopping. Generally, teens spend over 9.5 hours a day sleeping on average – about 11 hours a night at the weekend and 9 hours during the week.

What do you think of these results? Is it similar where you live?
