ANNA'S DAY IN SUNNYVILLE

Last Saturday, Anna travelled to Sunnyville, a small but busy city. She wanted to visit some tourist places and enjoy her day. First, she needed to find the bus station.

She stopped a woman on the street and asked politely:

"Excuse me, how can I get to the bus station?"

The woman smiled and said:

"Go straight ahead for two blocks. You will see three bookshops on your right. Then, turn left at the traffic lights. The bus station is between the cinemas and the libraries."

Anna thanked her and continued walking. On the way, she noticed many cafés, restaurants, and bakeries. She felt hungry, so she bought some bread, a little butter, and two sandwiches. She also bought two bottles of water.

At the bus station, she took the bus to the central park. The park was beautiful: there were many trees, flowers, benches, and children playing. She could also see some dogs running happily.

In the afternoon, Anna visited two museums and three churches. She enjoyed looking at the paintings and learning about the city's history. Later, she asked another person for directions to the market.

The man said:

"Go along Green Street. The market is next to the supermarkets and opposite the old cinema."

At the market, she saw a lot of fresh fruits, vegetables, and cheese. Anna bought some apples and bananas, and a little milk. She was very tired, but she was also very happy because she had discovered so many interesting places in Sunnyville.
