Small Changes in My Life

I've lived in the same city for many years, but my life has changed a little recently. I've just started a new online English course, and I've already learned many new words.

I haven't spoken English outside class yet, but I feel more confident. I've never studied English online before, so this experience is new for me. I've studied English since last year, and I've enjoyed the process so far. I know I haven't finished my journey yet, but I'm happy with my progress.
