

Travelling around Russia: Moscow

Travelling around Russia is very interesting, and Moscow is one of the best cities to visit. Moscow is the capital of Russia and its largest city. It is old, beautiful, and full of history. Many tourists from different countries come to Moscow every year.

The heart of the city is Red Square. It is the most famous place in Moscow. Near Red Square you can see Saint Basil's Cathedral with its bright colors and unusual domes. Next to it there is the State Historical Museum, where people can learn about the history of Russia. Not far from Red Square you can also visit the Bolshoi Theatre. It is famous for ballet and opera performances.

Moscow has many streets for walking. Old Arbat is a quiet and historic street with small shops and street artists. New Arbat is modern and busy, with tall buildings, cafes, and bright lights. For rest and fun, people often go to Gorky Park. It is a popular place for walking, riding bikes, and meeting friends.

If you want to see the city from above, visit Sparrow Hills. From there you can enjoy a great view of Moscow. Art lovers should visit the Tretyakov Gallery, where many famous Russian paintings are kept.

Moscow is a city where tradition meets modern life. Travelling to Moscow is an exciting experience and a great journey for everyone.
