AMAZING FACTS ABOUT

WILD ANIMALS

LIONS

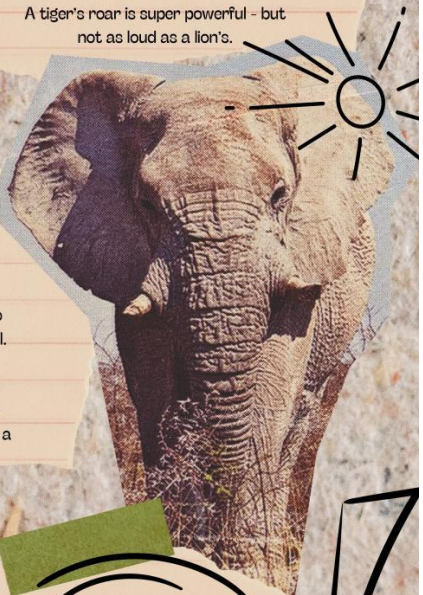

Lions have the loudest roar of any big cat! You can hear a lion roar up to 5 miles away!
Lions are champion sleepers. They spend up to 20 hours a day sleeping or resting. Imagine!
The big, fluffy hair around a lion's neck is called a mane. Only male lions have manes. The mane helps protect their necks when they fight.

TIGERS

Tigers have unique stripes. No two tigers have the same stripe pattern, which makes them easy to tell apart from one another.
Tigers are amazing swimmers. They love water and can swim very, very far distances.
A tiger's roar is super powerful - but not as loud as a lion's.

ELEPHANTS

We know elephants have massive ears, but do you know why? Their huge ears keep them cool. When it's hot, they flap their ears like fans.
Elephants' trunks are the longest noses in the animal kingdom. They use them to pick up tiny peanuts, drink water, and even give themselves a shower!

BEARS

Bears come in many sizes. The giant Kodiak bear is as big as a small car. The tiny sun bear is the size of a big dog.
Bears hibernate during the winter. This is when they sleep for months at a time and don't eat, drink, or go to the bathroom! Their bodies go into a super-sleep mode to save energy until spring.
