5 Read the text.

It is fun to meet new people. You can meet people in your local area, at high school, or in your job. But many young people now meet new friends online. Social-media sites are great for this. There are a lot of different choices, and you can use the sites that you are interested in.

Maybe you are a teacher and you want to meet other teachers. Or perhaps your favorite hobby is running and you want to find other runners. It is good to meet people who have similar interests because you have something to talk about.

Sometimes people who have busy jobs or live in big cities or towns find it hard to meet people. That is why social-media sites are so popular.

So, if you want to meet new people, why don't you try it?

Just remember to stay safe. Don't share any of your personal information, like your address or your phone number.
