

Student's name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

I. Read and draw lines. The first one is an example.

- | | | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|---|---|
| 0. What does an octopus look like? | ● | ● | No, they eat fish and squid. |
| 1. Do dolphins eat fruit? | ● | ● | They're endangered because people hunt them. |
| 2. Where do koalas live? | ● | ● | It's got eight legs. |
| 3. What were the polar bears doing? | ● | ● | They were swimming in the sea.
They love it! |
| 4. Why are black rhinos endangered? | ● | ● | They live in Australia. |

II. Read the questions and complete the answers. Use ONE word from the text for each blank. The first one is an example.

Giant pandas are black and white bears. A new-born panda weighs only 130 grams. When it grows up, an adult male can weigh up to 113 kilograms.

Giant pandas live in bamboo forests and they only eat bamboo. They have got sharp claws so that they climb trees very well.

Giant pandas are endangered animal because they are losing their habitat. We should plant more trees and stop cutting trees to help panda.

0. What does a giant panda look like?

→ A giant panda is black and white.

1. Where do they live?

They live in bamboo _____.

2. What do they eat?

They eat _____.

3. What can they do?

They have got sharp _____, so they can _____ trees very well.

4. Why are they in danger?

They are in danger because they are losing their _____.