

Every morning, I eat a cereal with milk. I like it because it tastes fresh and sweet. Sometimes, I add lettuce and spring onion to my breakfast salad.

Yesterday, I bumped my head while playing, and I had a little bump. My mom told me to chew my food slowly so nothing bad would happen.

I can smell the bread from the kitchen, and it smells awful if it is burned! Some foods are bitter, like medicine, but my taste buds help me know the difference. I always use my tongue to enjoy the taste of my food.

Sometimes, my brother asks me to lend him my spoon. I laugh and say, "Of course!"
