Ensuring social media becomes a safer space for teenagers requires collective efforts from users, platform developers, and authorities. Firstly, educating teens about online safety measures is crucial.

Teaching them to verify sources, identify trustworthy information, and recognise potential dangers of interacting with anonymous users can empower them to navigate social media more safely. Additionally, promoting open discussions about online behaviours and the impact of cyberbullying can help raise awareness and encourage responsible usage among teenagers.

Secondly, platform developers must prioritise the implementation of updated safety features and policies. Regular updates to privacy settings, content moderation tools, and reporting mechanisms can enhance user protection and foster a safer online environment.

Lastly, collaboration between parents, educators, and policymakers is essential in establishing comprehensive guidelines and support systems for teenage internet users. Encouraging parental

Read the following passage and circle the letter A, B, C, or D to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 34 to 40.

Leonardo da Vinci was one of the greatest painters and thinkers in his era. His works have influenced not only other artists and painters, but also people working in scientific fields.

He was born in 1452 in a small town near Vinci, Italy. Leonardo loved nature and spent a lot of time drawing pictures of animals and plants. He received little formal education, but his uncle and father soon discovered his talent, so they decided to send him to a workshop in Florence to apprentice with the master artist Verrocchio. Da Vinci not only improved his skills in drawing, painting, and sculpting, but he also picked up knowledge and technical skills in other areas including mechanics, carpentry, and architecture.

In 1472, Leonardo qualified as a master artist and opened his own workshop. However, he still continued to work together with Verrocchio until 1477. Then, he started working independently and completed a painting for the Duke of Milan. His work made a huge impression on the Duke who decided to offer him a position in his court. Da Vinci was invited to design innovative buildings, machines, and weapons. He would draw up plans for several inventions of the future such as tanks, submarines, and flying machines. He was also skilled at drawing detailed sketches of the human body.

Unfortunately, his interests were so broad that he often changed his focus to a new project and rarely finished the works he had started. The Last Supper and Mona Lisa were two of the masterpieces he could finish during his lifetime. In 1495, he started The Last Supper, which took him nearly three years to complete. In 1503, he began painting the Mona Lisa and worked on it over several years until his death.

Da Vinci died in 1519, but he is still considered as one of the greatest geniuses. His paintings changed the world of art, and many inventions were carried out based on his ideas and sketches. His greatness lies in the depth and diversity of his knowledge, and 500 years after his death his genius shines as bright as ever.
