

BAD OMENS - Like A Villain

Look into my face, then look again
We are not the same, we're different
To tell your tales and fables, you couldn't wait
You need a new clean slate without the dents
A place to _____ pain, your consequence
When you look into the mirror, are you even there?
I don't wanna know all your secrets _____ I'll tell
It's hard enough being alone with myself
I don't know how long I'll be holding _____
I know you _____ your hardest, I know _____ _____ meant well
But you pushed me to the edge and I slipped, and then I fell
I don't know how long I'll be holding _____
So write a brand- _____ page, then write again
I know your act is staged yet you pretend
All while you're turning tables with missing legs
I think you've overstayed your welcome in
So go the fuck away, don't come again
I'll see your face in the fire and burn it _____
[Refrain]
Like a villain, I _____ be
I didn't need _____, it needed me

Vocabulary

- A. a clean slate
- B. staged act
- C. tell tales and fables
- D. to hold on
- E. to mean well
- F. to overstay one's welcome
- G. to push someone to the edge
- H. to slip and fall
- I. to try one's hardest
- J. to turn the tables
- K. to write a brand-new page
- L. to be alone with oneself

Choose the situation that best matches the expression (write only the letter)

1. Someone keeps exaggerating stories about their past, adding dramatic details that clearly aren't true.
2. After a painful breakup, she moves to another city and decides to start life from scratch.
3. Even though everything feels overwhelming, he refuses to give up and keeps going.
4. She studied day and night, skipped vacations, and did absolutely everything she could to succeed.
5. He hurt her deeply, but his intentions were never malicious, he genuinely wanted to help.
6. Constant pressure at work and personal problems finally caused her to emotionally break down.
7. After months of progress, one bad decision made him lose control and fall back into old habits.
8. Leaving the old identity behind, she decides to redefine who she is and where she's going.
9. His smile, confidence, and kindness feel rehearsed, nothing about him seems genuine.
10. The weaker side unexpectedly gains power and ends up controlling the situation.
11. He keeps showing up where he's clearly no longer wanted, ignoring all social signals.
12. She deliberately disconnects from everyone to reflect, think, and face her thoughts privately.