SCOTLAND, A LAND OF LEGENDS

Scotland, which is part of the United Kingdom, is a country with a long and interesting history. Edinburgh is the capital city, where the Scottish Parliament is located. It is a very famous city because there is a big castle and many museums. However, Scotland is not only famous for its cities; it is also famous for its mountains, hills, and many lakes, which are called "lochs".

One of the most popular places is Loch Ness. Many people believe that a monster, whose name is Nessie, lives in the cold, dark water. Therefore, thousands of tourists travel there every year to take photos. Besides the scenery, Scotland is known for its weather, which is usually cold, wet, and windy. In the past, Scotland was a quiet place with many small villages, but today it is a modern country with five million people.

Next year, the government will build new schools and hospitals in the north. However, they won't build new factories because they want to protect the beautiful nature. Many Scottish people, who are very proud of their culture, like to play music and wear traditional clothes.
