Then, starting at the beginning of the first shaded row, enter the German Phrases in that row. Then, go to the next row. It is not shaded. Enter the English translation of the German phrase directly above it. Continue this pattern until you have completed the entire puzzle. To receive credit, the phrases MUST be in proper order!!!

If you aren't sure what a phrase means, go to leo.org and type in the infinitive of the German verb to find out what it means in English.

To find the infinitive of a conjugate verb, remove the ending and add en. Zum Beispiel (for example):

er kauft

The ending for the "er" form is "t". So, remove the "t" from the verb:
kauf

You now have the stem. Add "en" to the stem to get back to the infinitive:
kaufen

= Deutsch
= Englisch
