

GPU 29 Joining Sentences (with Relative Pronouns)

● EXERCISE 109 - JOINING SENTENCES WITH 'WHO'/'WHICH'

Join these pairs of sentences using 'who' or 'which'. You must leave out the words in bold.

e.g. I know the man. The man lives next door to you.

I know the man who lives next door to you.

1. This is the girl. The girl painted the picture.

2. He tied up the dog. The dog bit the postman yesterday.

He tied up the dog which bit the postman yesterday.

3. They want to see the farmer. The farmer has lost his cows.

They want to see the farmer who has lost his cows.

4. Is this the box? You were looking for this box.

Is this the box which you were looking for this box?

5. What is the name of the boy? He is wearing a red cap.

What is the name of the boy who is wearing a red cap.

6. He bought the knife. The knife had a carved handle.

He bought the knife which had a carved handle.

7. They sold the house. The house was near the seaside.

They sold the house which was near the seaside.

8. Here comes the bus. We are waiting for it.

9. The men have killed the snake. The snake ate the chickens.

The men have killed the snake which ate the chickens.

10. They have eaten all the cakes. Mrs Chong baked the cakes.

They have eaten all the cakes which Mrs Chong baked.

● EXERCISE 110 - JOINING SENTENCES WITH WHO' / 'WHICH'"

Join these pairs of sentences using 'who' or 'which'. You must leave out the words in bold.

e.g. The bird has flown away. The bird could sing.

The bird which could sing has flown away.

1. The box is here. You were looking for the box.

2. The tree has fallen. We planted it last year.

The tree which we planted last year has fallen.

3. The picture won the first prize. His brother painted it.

The picture which his brother painted won the first prize.

4. The child is sleeping. The child cried just now.

5. The dress is too tight. You sewed the dress.

6. The girl knows my brother. The girl told us the news.

The girl who told us the news knows my brother.

7. The boys have fallen ill. They ate the mushrooms.

The boys who ate the mushrooms have fallen ill.

8. The children have left. They were playing in the field.

The children who were playing in the field have left.

9. The book is the thickest on the shelf. You are holding the book.

The book which you are holding is the thickest on the shelf.

10. Did you talk to the lady? The lady brought the parcel.

Did you talk to the lady who brought the parcel?

● EXERCISE 111 - JOINING SENTENCES WITH 'WHOSE'

Join these sentences using 'whose'. You must leave out the words in bold.

e.g. Is that the man? His son is a soldier.

Is that the man whose son is a soldier?

1. This is the girl. Her sister is your classmate.

2. She knows the boy. His brother is studying in Australia.

She knows the boy whose brother is studying in Australia.

5. I went to see the man. His son is an artist.

6. Did you see the lady? Her jewels were stolen.

Did you see the lady whose jewels were stolen?

9. This is the woman. The woman's house caught fire.

This is the woman whose house caught fire.