

Ned is a donkey. He lives in a field. Next to his field, there are two donkeys.

“Their field is fun,” thinks Ned, “My field is boring.”

He jumps over the fence. The donkeys are fun, but they’re noisy! Ned sees another field.

He jumps over. The field is quiet, but it’s small. Ned is hungry. Ned sees a bird in the next field.

“Its field is big,” thinks Ned. He jumps over. The bird flies away. Ned is lonely.

Ned jumps into the road. The road is busy. He sees a nice, quiet field.

“That field is quiet,” thinks Ned. He jumps into the field.

“Wait! This is my field! My field is nice!”

Now Ned is happy in his field!
