

Name: _____

Date: _____

Unit 13 Self-Reflection: Mixed Feelings

Grammar Check: Just, Already, Yet

Think about the rules you learned in this unit regarding the Present Perfect tense. Read each statement and mark how confident you feel.

I can...	Yes!	Not yet
Use just for actions that happened a short time ago.
Use already for actions that happened sooner than expected.
Use yet at the end of negative sentences and questions.

Teacher's Tip: Remember, yet always goes at the very end of the sentence!

Quick Task: Complete the sentence about your day using the grammar rules above.

I have already _____ but I haven't _____ yet.

Vocabulary Check: -ed vs -ing Adjectives 😊

Recall the rules from the Vocabulary section:

- -ed adjectives describe how a person feels.
- Example: I am bored.
- -ing adjectives describe the thing or situation that causes the feeling.
- Example: This book is boring.

Choose the correct adjective.

1. Maggie is doing her homework and she's bored / boring.
2. I hate it when my mum asks me about school –it's so annoying / annoyed.
3. Dad felt relaxing / relaxed after playing his guitar.
4. It was surprising / surprised that Anne won the game so easily.
5. I'm a bit confused / confusing about the ending of the book – what actually happened?
6. Johnny stood up in class but forgot what to say – he was embarrassing / embarrassed.

1. Choose the correct option: This grammar lesson was very _____.	a) interested b) interesting
2. Choose the correct option: I felt _____ when I finished all the tasks.	a) amazed b) amazing

My Progress Journal

Reflect on your work during the lesson and answer the questions below.

The most interesting part of the lesson was:

The most difficult task for me was:

One thing I want to practice more is:

How do you feel about your English today? (Check one)

 Excited I want to learn more!	 Satisfied I understood most of it.	 Confused I need help with the rules.