Hi Ali

It's my birthday next week. My parents said I can either have a party or go out to dinner with my party friends and everyone is free then. Also, we finish school on Friday. Maybe you and I can go swimming in the afternoon. Or perhaps we could go to the cinema. This is because I would like to see the new film. I will be home for half an hour after that. I'm going to the shops. The party starts at seven and I will be home at nine.

Hope you can come!

Dear Rudy

I had an interview in London yesterday. It was a headhunting one of four airports near London. I decided to take the train. The headhunting agency, into London, not to save money but because it's the fastest way. I arrived at 10am, waited ten minutes for the train and after a fifteen minute journey was in London. The company's office is five minutes from Paddington station, so I was soon at AGC Computers!

My interview was with Nick Kane, the Director, but as I waited through the door, guess who I saw? Tim Buddie, an old friend. His wife, Gina Firth, knew my sister. We had a chat and then I went to see Nick's office. I felt nervous before I walked into the room. I only had three hours sleep on Monday night but he was so pleasant my worries disappeared immediately and I felt comfortable.

And... I got the job! The money is the same as I earn now but I get the chance to see the world. I'm going to Tim's house for dinner tonight. He's still the same... I tell and this but now his hair is grey but we have lots to talk about. He and Gina have got three boys and a girl, four kids, and we've got our new baby!

See you.
