Education

Let children learn to judge their own work. A child learning to talk does not learn by being corrected all the time. If corrected too much, he will stop talking. He notices a thousand times a day the difference between the language he uses and the language those around him use. Bit by bit, he makes the necessary changes to make his language like other people's. In the same way, children learn all the other things they learn to do without being taught - to talk, run, climb, whistle, ride a bicycle - compare their own performances with those of more skilled people, and slowly make the needed changes. But in school we never give a child a chance to find out his mistakes for himself, let alone correct them. We do it all for him. We act as if we thought that he would never notice a mistake unless it was pointed out to him, or correct it unless he was made to. Soon he becomes dependent on the teacher. Let him do it himself. Let him work out, with the help of other children if he wants it, what this word says, what the answer is to that problem, whether this is a good way of saying or doing this or not.

If it is a matter of right answers, as it may be in mathematics or science, give him the answer book. Let him correct his own papers. [I] Why should we teachers waste time on such routine work? [II] Our job should be to help the child when he tells us that he can't find the way to get the right answer. [III] Let's end all this nonsense of grades, exams, and marks. [IV] Let us throw them all out, and let the children learn what all educated persons must someday learn, how to measure their own understanding, how to know what they know or do not know.

Let them get on with this job in the way that seems most sensible to them, with our help as school teachers if they ask for it. The idea that there is a body of knowledge to be learnt at school and used for the rest of one's life is nonsense in a world as complicated and rapidly changing as ours. Anxious parents and teachers say, "But suppose they fail to learn something essential, something they will need to get on in the world?" Don't worry! If it is essential, they will go out into the world and learn it.

Câu 21: What does the author think is the best way for children to learn things?

- A. By copying what other people do.
- B. By making mistakes and having them corrected.
- C. By asking a great many questions.
- D. By listening to explanations from skilled people.

- A. more important than other skills.
- B. basically the same as learning other skills.
- C. not really an important skill.
- D. basically different from learning adult skills.

Câu 23: What does the author think teachers do which they should not do?

- A. They encourage children to copy from one another
- B. They point out children's mistakes to them
- C. They allow children to mark their own work
- D. They give children correct answers

Câu 24: The word "those" in the first paragraph refers to _____.

- A. skills
- B. things
- C. performances
- D. changes

Câu 25: According to the first paragraph, what basic skills do children learn to do without being taught?

- A. Talking, climbing and whistling
- B. Reading, talking and hearing
- C. Running, walking and playing
- D. Talking, running and skiing

Câu 26: Exams, grades and marks should be abolished because children's progress should only be estimated by _____.

- A. parents
C. teachers
- B. the children themselves
D. educated persons

Câu 27: In which place in paragraph 2 can the following sentence best fit?

"Instead of focusing on these labels, students should focus on what they actually understand."

- A. [I] B. [II] C. [III] D. [IV]

Câu 28: The author fears that children will grow up into adults who are _____.

- A. unable to think for themselves
C. unable to use basic skills
- B. too independent of others
D. too critical of themselves
