

can - could - may - will - would must - have to - need (to) - can't

Grammar

Can, could, may, will, would, must, need, etc. are modal verbs and:

- they do not form all the tenses.
- they are the same in all persons, singular and plural.
- they form the interrogative and the negative without auxiliary verbs (do/did).
- they are followed by the base form of a verb, without to.

a can/could/may/will/would

We use Can I..?, Could I..?, May I..?:

- to ask for, give or refuse permission.
Can/Could/May I go to the park, Mum?
Yes, you can/may. No, you can't/may not.
- to make polite requests and offer help.
Can/Could/May I have some more tea?
Can/Could/May I get you some coffee?

We use Can/Could/Will/Would you...?:

- to make polite requests or ask for a favour.
Could and Would are more polite.
Can/Could/Will/Would you give me a lift?

b must / have to / can't

We use must:

- in the affirmative and interrogative to express obligation in the present and future.
I must give James a call. Must we go so soon?
- in the negative to express prohibition.
You mustn't use more than 15 GBs a month.

We use have to:

- in the affirmative and interrogative to express obligation in the present and future.
You have to wear a uniform. Do you have to work on Saturdays?
- in the negative to express absence of obligation.
She doesn't have to pick up if she doesn't recognise the telephone number.

NOTE:

- Must expresses an obligation that the speaker imposes on himself/herself or others.
Have to expresses an obligation that is imposed by somebody or something else.
- Must and have to form the Past with had to/didn't have to and the Future with will have to/won't have to. The affirmative expresses obligation and the negative absence of obligation in the past or the future respectively.
*Kate didn't have to go to school yesterday because she was ill.
You must prepare your presentation tonight because you will have to give it at 9 a.m. tomorrow.*
- To express prohibition, we can also use can't.
You can't use your mobile phone in the hospital.

c need (to)

We use need:

- as a main verb in all tenses in the affirmative, interrogative and negative. It is followed by a full infinitive and forms the interrogative and negative with auxiliary verbs (do/does, did etc.)
- as a modal verb in the interrogative and negative of the Present Simple only. It is followed by a bare infinitive and forms the interrogative and negative without auxiliary verbs.

Affirmative	Negative	Questions
I need to go	I don't need to go I needn't go	Do I need to go? Need I go?
He/She/It needs to go	He/She/It doesn't need to go He/She/It needn't go	Does he/she/it need to go? Need he/she/it go?
We/You/They need to go	We/You/They don't need to go We/You/They needn't go	Do we/you/they need to go? Need we/you/they go?

We use need:

- in the affirmative and interrogative to express necessity.
I need to talk to Jane.
- in the negative to express absence of necessity.
You don't need to buy anything.
She needn't catch the bus. She can take the underground instead.
