

Paragraph 1

Most people think about warm and sunny places when it is time for a vacation. They want to swim in the sea or go on a boat trip. That is fun, but you can also have a great vacation in a place with cold weather. For example, you can go to the Snow Festival in Sapporo, Japan. The festival takes place every year in three different parts of the city. Here are some things to do and see.

Paragraph 2 – Odori Park

In Odori Park, you can see many large snow sculptures. Some are more than 15 meters tall! It's a good idea to visit the park in the evening because the sculptures are lit up in many different colors. It's very special to see.

Paragraph 3 – Susukino

Susukino is near Odori Park. There you can see how artists make ice sculptures. It is fun to watch. And when you feel cold, you can buy hot chocolate at one of the many kiosks.

Paragraph 4 – Tsudome

Tsudome is a big park in Sapporo. Many families with young children go there during the snow festival. They enjoy playing in the snow together. There are also several good places to buy food, so you'll never be hungry!
