Chef can't eat his own food

A chef with a fear of food eats
only biscuits

ANDREW FORSTER is a chef in an Italian restaurant in the north of England.

He makes delicious food – fish dishes, sauces, pasta, and desserts – but he can't eat any of it. He has a fear of food. 'When I was 18 months old I stopped eating,' says Andrew, the 27-year-old chef at the Sale Pepe Restaurant in County Durham. 'Doctors told my mother to give me nothing to see what I would eat, but I only ate biscuits.'

He eats two packets of biscuits a day and sometimes some toast, some crisps, and some cereal for breakfast. 'If I just think of eating other food, I feel anxious, then I feel sick.'

Andrew trained for years to be a chef. 'I know exactly what foods go well together. When I'm in my kitchen and I make something, I think 'Mmm! This smells delicious!' I'd love to taste what I cook, but I can't,' he says. 'Other chefs tell me if it needs more salt or more sugar.'

This fear makes life difficult for Andrew and his girlfriend, Caroline Lister. 'We can't go out for meals with friends,' she says. 'And we can't go to friends' weddings either. Andrew would like to eat everything like other people, but it's not possible.'

Andrew appeared on a TV programme called Freaky Eaters. He is now getting help from a psychologist and a food expert to help him try different foods.

Also on the programme was a man who only likes eating meat. Unfortunately, his girlfriend is a vegetarian. He can't kiss her unless he brushes his teeth. Other people include a man who doesn't like eating hot food, a woman who only likes eating chips, and a boy who lives on jam sandwiches.
