The school year is almost over, and Class 4A is getting ready for their end-of-year celebration. The students have organised many fun activities at school. There are craft corners where everyone can paint T-shirts and make friendship bracelets. For students who love sports, they can join in fun running races. When they get hungry, they can visit the refreshment tent to enjoy freshly baked cakes and delicious fruit smoothies.

However, the most exciting part of the summer is the upcoming holiday challenge. Next week, the class is going on an adventure trip. They will try outdoor activities like rock climbing and going on a zipwire. Many students are excited to explore a new place, but some are feeling a bit nervous. Lia, for example, wants to climb quickly, but she is afraid of heights. Luckily, her friends are very sympathetic. They listen to her problems and tell her, "You'll be fine. It's very safe." Trying a new challenge can be scary, but it is also a great way to make your arms and legs stronger.

Overall, these holiday challenges are wonderful experiences because they help students overcome their fears and build strong friendships before returning to school.
