

Part A

Identify expressions of agreement and disagreement in the dialogue by answer the question!

Student A:

I think the teacher gave us too much homework today. It's quite overwhelming.

Student B:

I agree with you. We already have a lot of assignments from other subjects.

Student A:

Yes, I feel we don't have enough time to finish everything properly.

Student B:

I see your point, but I don't really agree that it is too much. Maybe it just needs better time management.

Student A:

Hmm, I respect your opinion, but I still think it is too heavy for one day.

Student B:

I partly agree, but I think homework helps us understand the lesson better.

Student A:

That's true. I agree with that idea, but the amount should be balanced.

Student B:

Yes, I completely agree. Balance is important so students don't feel stressed.

Questions

1. Student B agrees that the homework is too much at the beginning of the dialogue.
2. The sentence "I see your point, but I don't really agree..." shows disagreement.
3. Student A fully agrees with Student B when saying "I respect your opinion...".
4. The expression "I partly agree..." shows a form of agreement.
5. At the end of the dialogue, both students agree about the importance of balance.