Lily and Tom go to the park on a sunny morning. The sky is blue, and the air is nice. They bring a ball, their bikes, and some food. First, they run on the grass and play tag. Tom runs fast, but Lily touches him and laughs. Then, they throw and catch the ball. Sometimes, the ball falls, and they run to get it.

After that, they ride their bikes on a small road. Lily rings her bell, and Tom waves. They see birds in the trees and a little squirrel climbing up. "Look! It has a nut!" says Tom. They stop and watch.

Later, they sit on a bench under a big tree. The tree gives them shade, and the wind is soft. They eat apples and bread with cheese. They drink water. "This is a fun day!" says Tom. Lily smiles and says, "Let's come again tomorrow!"
